Recruiting Flowchart: From Position Requisition to Job Offer

A comprehensive guide to structured, strategic talent acquisition from initial need identification through successful candidate onboarding

PHASE 1

Position Requisition & Approval

Identifying the Need

Every great hire begins with a clear understanding of team gaps, emerging business needs, or strategic role creation. This critical first step ensures alignment between organizational goals and hiring initiatives.

Approval Process

Submit a comprehensive position requisition form detailing role justification, reporting structure, and business impact for managerial and HR review.

Skills Required

Technical and soft skills mapped to role requirements

Experience Level

Years of experience and industry background expectations

Success Criteria

Clear metrics defining what excellent performance looks like

PHASE 2

Define Candidate Profile & Salary Alignment

Strategic alignment between hiring managers and HR transforms a job requisition into a targeted search for exceptional talent with clear compensation parameters.

1

Candidate Qualifications

Collaborate with hiring manager to finalize must-have versus nice-to-have qualifications, ensuring realistic expectations and market competitiveness

2

Compensation Framework

Establish salary band and comprehensive benefits package aligned with market data, internal equity, and budget constraints

3

Success Profile Documentation

Create detailed documentation outlining key competencies, behavioral traits, culture fit indicators, and performance expectations

PHASE 3

Job Description Preparation & Approval

Crafting the Perfect JD

A compelling job description serves as both a marketing tool and a legal document. Draft detailed content that accurately reflects responsibilities, required qualifications, growth opportunities, and company culture.

Include clear day-to-day expectations, reporting relationships, key performance indicators, and what makes this opportunity unique in the marketplace.

Review & Compliance

Submit the draft for comprehensive HR review to ensure:

- Legal compliance and non-discriminatory language
- Consistency with compensation structure
- Alignment with employer branding
- Clarity and accessibility for diverse candidates

PHASE 4

Job Posting & Sourcing

Company Career Site

Primary posting location showcasing employer brand, company culture, and comprehensive role details to attract aligned candidates

Job Boards

Strategic distribution across general and niche job boards to maximize visibility and reach diverse qualified candidate pools

Social Channels

Leverage LinkedIn, Twitter, and professional networks for organic reach and targeted advertising to passive candidates

Referral Programs

Activate internal employee referral networks and existing talent pools for pre-vetted, culture-aligned candidate recommendations

PHASE 5

Application Collection & Initial Screening

Centralized Application Management

All applications funnel through your Applicant Tracking System (ATS), creating a structured database that ensures no candidate falls through the cracks.

Strategic Screening

Hiring managers and recruiters collaborate on initial resume reviews, employing blind screening practices when appropriate to minimize unconscious bias and promote diversity.

01

Application Receipt

Automated acknowledgment and tracking

02

Resume Screening

Evaluate against minimum qualifications

03

Candidate Shortlisting

Create focused pool of qualified prospects

PHASE 6

Interview Process & Candidate Evaluation

A structured, multi-stage interview process ensures comprehensive evaluation while providing candidates with insight into your organization's culture and expectations.

Phone Screening

Initial 20-30 minute conversation to assess basic qualifications, salary expectations, and mutual interest

Video Interview

Deeper dive into experience, technical skills, and cultural alignment with hiring manager

Panel Interview

In-person or virtual meetings with cross-functional team members to evaluate collaboration and fit

Best Practice: Use standardized evaluation scorecards across all interviewers to ensure objective, consistent candidate assessment and reduce bias in decision-making.

Selection & Background Checks

Final Candidate Selection

The hiring manager synthesizes feedback from all interview stages, assessment results, and evaluation scores to identify the top candidate who best meets role requirements and cultural fit criteria.

This decision involves careful consideration of both technical capabilities and soft skills that predict long-term success.

Due Diligence Process

- Comprehensive background verification
- Professional reference checks with former managers
- Education and credential verification
- Criminal background screening (where legally permissible)
- Drug testing if required by role or industry

1 Selection Decision

Hiring team consensus

2 Checks Initiated

Background screening begins

3 Candidate Updates

Communication with all applicants

4 Results Review

Verification complete

PHASE 8

Job Offer & Negotiation

Offer Preparation

HR and hiring manager collaborate to prepare comprehensive formal offer including salary, benefits, equity, start date, and any special terms

Offer Extension

Deliver offer via phone call followed by formal written documentation, highlighting excitement about candidate joining the team

Negotiation Phase

Engage in good-faith negotiations on compensation, benefits, or start date with HR guidance to maintain internal equity

Final Approval

Obtain executive sign-off on any negotiated terms before candidate acceptance to ensure alignment

PHASE 9

Offer Acceptance & Onboarding Preparation

The recruitment journey culminates in offer acceptance, marking the transition from candidate to new team member and triggering a carefully orchestrated onboarding experience.

Securing Commitment

Candidate formally accepts the offer and signs employment contract, establishing the legal employment relationship and confirming start date.

Onboarding Excellence

HR immediately begins coordinating comprehensive onboarding activities including workspace setup, technology provisioning, documentation completion, and first-week scheduling.

Contract Signature

Legal employment agreement finalized

Onboarding Plan

Structured 30-60-90 day roadmap created

Day One Success

Seamless integration ensuring immediate productivity and engagement
